VOCAL PROTEST | Opposition parties come together in assailing Bengal CM Mamata for storming into I-PAC chief's house during central agency's raids

Didi interfering in ED's work, says BJP, demands legal action

KOLKATA

The Leader of Opposition in West Bengal Assembly, Suwendu Adhikari, on Thursday demanded strong legal action against Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee for allegedly interfering in the job of the ED which is probing a money laundering case by a coal smuggling syndicate of the state.

Banerjee dramatically turned up at the residence of I-PAC chief Pratik Jain and later at the main office of the TMC's poll advisor amid an ongoing ED search, alleging that the central agency was attempting to seize the party's internal documents, hard disks and sensitive digital data linked to its strategy for the upcoming elections.

Responding to her statements made at those locations during search operations by the Enforcement Directorate, the BJP said that attempts to politicise a lawful investigative process or to undermine constitutional authorities only weakens public trust in institutions and the rule of law.

I-PAC acts as TMC's eyes, ears, says Cong

Kolkata: Senior Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury on Thursday alleged that I-PAC, a corporate entity, is engaged in "political unethical and conspiratorial" activities in West Bengal to ensure the party's electoral success. "I-PAC acts as the eyes and ears of the TMC. The body itself does not contest elections, but it controls the internal functioning of the TMC, deciding who will sit in which position, who will become a leader, and even influencing internal voting. These people are directly involved in the entire process. The money collected through all this is sent to the TMC office, and I-PAC takes its share from it. This is the reality of I-PAC," Chowdhury told PTI videos.

I-PAC's Jain: An engineer turned political analyst

KOLKATA

Pratik Jain, a former engineer turned high-stakes political strategist, serves as a co-founder of the Indian Political Action Committee (I-PAC). An alumnus of the prestigious Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay (IIT-B), Jain earned his degree in Metallurgical Engineering and Materials Science.

His early career was marked by a blend of finance and consulting; he gained significant market exposure through an internship at Axis Mutual Fund before joining Deloitte as an analyst in 2012. Jain's transition into the political sphere began with Citizens for Accountable Governance (CAG), a non-profit that eventually evolved into I-PAC in 2015, which he co-founded alongside Vinesh Chandel and Rishi Raj Singh. Following the high-profile exit of strategist Prashant Kishor, Jain took the helm of the firm's operations in West Bengal.

Today, Jain is a central figure in the state's electoral landscape, leading I-PAC's partnership with the Trinamool Congress (TMC). He specifically manages the party's IT cell and digital outreach, utiliz-

CPM alleges raids stage managed

Kolkata: The CPI(M) on Thursday alleged that the raid at political consultancy firm I-PAC's office and the home of its director, Pratik Jain, is a "stage-managed" affair between the BJP and the TMC before the West Bengal assembly elections. "Drama over the raid is being done, but the truth will not come out," CPI(M) West Bengal secretary Mohammed Salim said. He asked what stature does Jain have in the Trinamool Congress that the chief minister "had to rush to his residence and office during the ED raid." Addressing a hurriedly called press conference, Salim alleged that the kingpins in the alleged coal scam case are not being investigated by the central agencies.

NEW DELHI

Misleading audio messages circulated on multiple WhatsApp groups were key to fuelling rumours about the alleged demolition of the Faiz-e-Elahi Mosque near the Turkman Gate, even as officers moved swiftly to counter the narrative, an official said on Thursday.

An anti-encroachment drive near the mosque in Delhi's Ramlila Maidan area on the intervening night of Tuesday and Wednesday triggered violence as many people pelted stones at police personnel, injuring five of them, including the area's station house officer.

In all, 10 people were arrested, and a juvenile was apprehended.

According to police, rumours claiming the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) was demolishing the mosque spread primarily through voice notes shared across community, religious and neighbourhood WhatsApp groups ahead of a court-ordered anti-encroachment drive.

Investigators said several WhatsApp groups were already under police watch when the audio messages began circulating. "Our teams had penetrated these groups and actively countered the false claims. This helped restrict the crowd size and prevented wider mobilisation," a senior police officer said. Around four to five WhatsApp groups that showed an aggressive or provocative tone were placed under close surveillance, police said, adding that no fresh groups appeared to have been created immediately before the incident – a factor that is being examined while probing whether the rumours were pre-planned.

"As soon as the misinformation surfaced, our ACPs and SHOs reached out to Aman Committee members, community elders and religious leaders to clarify that the mosque would not be touched," the officer said, adding that senior officers personally engaged with clerics to dispel fear.

Additional Commissioner of Police (Central) Nidhin Valsan had held meetings with more than 120 maulvis days before the drive, clearly explaining that only illegal encroachments would be removed and that the mosque itself was not part of the action.

Religious leaders were also informed about their legal remedies if they wished to challenge the court order.

Police have also identified at least 10 social media influencers who allegedly spread false claims that the mosque had been demolished, and one woman influencer has been summoned for questioning. Authorities said the content being circulated was misleading and had the potential to disturb communal harmony.

K'taka assault: NCW takes up suo moto case, min backs cops

BENGALURU

The National Commission for Woman (NCW) has taken up a suo moto case in connection with a BJP woman activist Sujatha Handi allegedly disrobed by the Hubballi police.

On Thursday, the National Commission for Women issued a notice to Karnataka DG & IGP, seeking a report on the incident. Besides, the NCW has directed the police department to register a suo moto case against the police personnel involved in the assault and conduct an inquiry into the issue.

The Hubballi police have arrested the Congress Corporator Suvarna Kallakuntla amidst high drama, following a complaint by brother of Sujatha Handi for inciting violence in the area.

Meanwhile, referring to the BJP's criticism over the alleged assault and stripping case involving a woman worker, Karnataka Home Minister G. Parameshwara said the party should not indulge in politics in the name of a woman and that the government stands by the statement issued by the police department.

K'taka moves SC against G RAM G

BENGALURU

The Karnataka Cabinet on Thursday passed a unanimous resolution to legally challenge the Central government's newly enacted Viksit Bharat – Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) (VB-G RAM G) Act.

The state government has decided to move the SC against the legislation, which recently replaced the long-standing Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA).

Briefing the media, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister H.K. Patil emphasised that the Cabinet considers the new Act a direct violation of the right to work and livelihood as protected under Article 21 of the Constitution.

Furthermore, while the Centre previously bore the full cost of unskilled wages under MGNREGA, the VB-G RAM G Act mandates a 60:40 fund-sharing pattern, requiring states like Karnataka to cover 40% of the expenditure on terms unilaterally decided by the Union Government.

Beyond the legal battle in the Supreme Court, the Karnataka government plans to take the issue to the "people's court" to raise awareness about the potential dilution of rural employment guarantees.

PM: Our AI models should be distinct, promote desi content

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said the world's trust in India is its biggest strength and emphasised the need to ensure that Indian Artificial Intelligence (AI) models are ethical, unbiased, transparent, and based on data privacy principles.

He also said the Indian AI models should be distinct and should promote local and indigenous content and regional languages.

Chairing a roundtable with Indian AI startups ahead of the India AI Impact Summit 2026, Modi suggested that the startups should work towards global leadership from this country, and noted that India can promote affordable and inclusive AI, and frugal innovation globally, an official statement said.

The prime minister said startups and artificial intelligence entrepreneurs are the co-architects of the country's future.

As many as 12 Indian AI

startups that have qualified for the 'AI for ALL: Global Impact Challenge' summit to be held next month attended the roundtable and presented their ideas and work.

Later, in a post on 'X', Modi said he talked about AI with youngsters from the Indian startup world.

"It was a memorable and insightful interaction, in which they shared their vision and work on how India is transforming the world of AI. It is commendable how these startups are working on diverse fields such as e-commerce, marketing, engineering simulations, material research, healthcare, medical research and more," he said.

This growth has been possible due to consistent policy reforms, improved transparency and structural changes in the system," he said.

A key area of reform under the new policy will be further rationalisation of licensing fees and procedures. The government has simplified the licensing framework over the past four years, but Agarwal said more needs to be done to improve ease of doing business and make exports commercially viable. "The next policy will focus on making the sector more competitive and investment-friendly," he said.

He attributed the steady rise in revenue to the introduction of e-auctions, wider participation and the dismantling of monopolies. This year, nearly 40 percent of those who secured retail shops through e-auctions were new entrants. "This shows that the monopoly of a few has been broken and confidence in the system has increased," Agarwal said.

Cong criticises easing of environmental norms for non-coal mining projects

NEW DELHI

The Congress on Thursday charged that the Centre last month eased the environment norms for non-coal mining projects by changing the policy which required that first land acquisition must be completed as per law and only then can environmental clearances be sought.

In a statement, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh while raising the issue said "on December 18, 2025, this policy was changed by the Union Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change and environmental clearances for non-coal mining projects can now be sought before land acquisition."

The senior Congress leader said "it is very difficult to understand how a meaningful environmental impact assessment can be made without full knowledge of the area that is going to be covered by the non-coal mining project in the first place." He alleged that "this policy change is yet another blow by the Narendra Modi regime to responsible and responsive environmental governance in the country."

isn't the military

Recently sworn in for a fifth term, Russian President Vladimir Putin did a surprise reshuffle of his defence establishment, demoting two of his closest aides—former defence minister Sergei Shoigu and ex-secretary of Security Council of Russia Nikolai Patrushev. This re-shuffle comes at a time when ‘mobilisation’ was expected to be Putin’s first move after re-election. The President has chosen deputy prime minister and long-time economic advisor Andrei Belousov to replace Shoigu, who in turn has replaced Patrushev. The latter’s new appointment remains unknown. The move is being seen as an effort to reduce the unsustainable and soaring costs of the war in Ukraine. It also challenges the narrative that the Russian economy is unaffected by the sanctions in the long-standing war. For 2024 alone, Putin has allocated $117 billion for the special military operation against Ukraine. His war economy runs feverishly in an overheated mode. Most international estimates state that 7.5 per cent of Russia’s GDP is directed to the military-industrial complex although Kremlin’s official estimates claim it is 6.7 percent. It is a rare submission of a rising-cost problem from Putin, who had preferred to continue with his hunting-holidaying excursions pal Shoigu despite repeated allegations of systemic corruption and inefficiency against him for years. These allegations became the order of the day when mercenary group Wagner, led by Yevgeny Prigozhin, was brought to deliver victory in the infamous battle for Bakhmut in 2023. Putin’s slighting of Prigozhin’s outright allegations against Shoigu and Chief of General Staff Valery Gerasimov led to the incredible Wagner mutiny against the two generals, which ended up with Prigozhin’s death in uncanny circumstances. It, however, unleashed an investigation into rampant corruption inside Russia’s military leadership, of which Prigozhin had become the most notorious victim. Russia-watchers had an inkling of Shoigu’s exit after Prigozhin and his aides were made to bid adieu into the flannel skies, and many corrupt links started to get exposed in the Ministry of Defence. The inkling became stronger as Shoigu’s deputies, including Timur Ivanov, got arrested on corruption charges last month. Soon, two other deputy defence ministers allegedly backdated their resignations before 9 May, or the Soviet Victory Day. The Russian army was supposed to make an impressive win in Chasiv Yar on the eastern front but had to make do with American tanks captured at a small village called Berdychi when Ukrainians retreated, running out of ammunition to fire. All has certainly not been going as planned. The latest reshuffling in key defence and security offices has been Putin’s biggest shake-up in the past 15 years. There are two reasons for this. One is ensuring economic efficiency at a time when the stakes are very high for Russia and Putin. And two, Shoigu’s leadership has not been able to yield the anticipated results in the Ukraine war. His current appointment is a step-down with little direct authority. Getting an economist like Belousov in the key position of a defence minister also shows that Putin is preparing for the longer haul. It is a solemn reiteration that the Ukraine war has indeed been reduced to a grinding war of attrition, with both sides lacking the capabilities to end it anytime soon. Europe’s combined strategies to support Kyiv militarily won’t come to fruition until mid-2025. American aid and the conditionalities attached are likely to help Ukraine stay afloat, but not gain a decisive edge.

With Taiwanese President set to assume office

Given that there is no let-up in either Taiwan’s defence preparedness posture or the US’ backing of the island, China is likely to dig into its coercive toolkit to respond to Lai’s swearing in. Image: REUTERS. With newly elected Taiwanese President Lai Ching-te set to assume office on May 20, there is intense speculation surrounding China’s potential response to the event. In anticipation of an aggressive response, Tsai Ming-yen, Director-General of Taiwan’s National Security Bureau, announced on May 1 that island authorities will be implementing measures to strengthen national critical infrastructure. Aiding the island’s overall defence posture, on April 24, United States President Joe Biden has also signed a bill to mobilise $8 billion in defence aid to the Indo-Pacific in general and Taiwan in particular. With neither the US nor China backing down on their respective positions on the Taiwan issue, these developments add fire to the already deteriorating cross-strait dynamics. US’ proactive role worries China During the recently concluded meeting between US Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Chinese President Xi Jinping in Beijing, Xi conveyed that the very first “red line” the US should not cross in its relations with China is the Taiwan issue. However, the US’ decision to continue to provide political and military support to Taiwan is motivated by two key factors: shared values and national security interests. While from a values-based perspective, the US sees its role in the Taiwan Strait as a defender of democracy and a provider of net security, from a national security interests perspective, it sees immense value in deterring China, preventing undue escalation, and securing supply chains in critical sectors such as semiconductor chips, wherein Taiwan plays a vital role. Hence, in the run up to Lai’s assumption of the presidential office, the US has embarked on a mission to demonstrate commitment to Taiwan. In addition to quickly signing the above-mentioned Indo-Pacific Security Supplemental Bill into law, over the past week, the Biden administration has also engaged with counter During this latest round of negotiations, concluded on May 3, the two sides reportedly discussed agriculture, environment, and labour issues with the hope of progressing the initiative to its second stage. After the first stage plan was signed by Washington and Taipei in May last year and brought into force through.

Why India should not put all its ‘eggs’ in military junta’s basket alone

Three years after the military coup in Myanmar, there seems to be no signs of the conflict abating between the junta and the various Ethnic Armed Organisations (EAOs) across the country. Especially after the successful launch of Operation 1027 against the military junta by the Three Brotherhood alliance members comprising the Myanmar National Democratic Alliance Army (MNDAA) from the Kokang region of the Shan state, the Ta’ang National Liberation Army also from the Shan state, and the Arakan Army (AA) based in the Rakhine state. After the success of Operation 1027, the rebellion quickly spread across Myanmar and by November 7, 2023, with the launch of Operation 1107 in support of Operation 1027, many other insurgent groups across the country joined hands. This was perhaps one of the rare occasions in the troubled history of Myanmar where EAOs from a variety of ethnic groups had come together in a meticulously coordinated attack against the junta. Subsequently, many Myanmar observers debated the pushback by the rebel groups as a victory for democracy, with some reports stating only 30-40 per cent of Myanmar was under the control of the junta. However, whether that means it is a victory in the real sense for the disparate groups that are fighting the junta is arguable. The junta has been relentless in its own offensive against EAOs. Not only does the junta have larger access to weapons but also has decades of experience in dealing with EAOs. It was evident in the recapture of Myawaddy, a border town and entry point for Thailand. A town destined to be a full international crossing as part of the Asian Highway Route Network AH1, that will extend to Tokyo, Japan. It also is a route for border trade of over $1 billion. There were various reports that claimed that the strategic town of Myawaddy was actually never captured by the Karen National Liberation Army (KNLA). Though KNLA didn’t claim it in explicit terms, through videos and strategic perception building, it gave the impression that it had captured the whole town. On the contrary, the truth might be that the town is actually under the control of the Border Guard Force (BGF), a Karen-dominated pro-junta militia group. And if not entirely pro-junta anymore, it is still playing a neutral role as the junta pays the salaries of its soldiers. Earlier this week the BGF warned, saying: “All foreigners who are doing online business around the Kayin state, Myawaddy township, must leave between May 1 (1-5-2024) and October 31 (31-10-2024). Foreigners who illegally cross the border must leave the country by the way they came. If found after October 31 (31-10-2024), effective action will be taken.” This warning was aimed at online scammers and gambling operations that have found place in Shwe Kokko Myaing, the “new city” that is a short distance from Myawaddy funded by Chinese money and BGF partnership. The notice was posted in Burmese, Chinese and English. The statement in itself is reminiscent of the fate of the “four families” of Laukaing in the Shan state who were involved in cyber-crime, cyber slavery and gambling operations that adversely impacted China. With the launch of Operation 1027, Tatmadaw looked towards the Chinese for support and in return withdrew support from the “four families”.

Operation 1027 was launched by the Three Brotherhood alliance that included the China-backed MNDAA. Today, trade between Myanmar through the northern Shan state has resumed. Similarly, in the case of Myawaddy it might be pertinent to note that the warning by the BGF has come less than a week after the visit of Lt Gen Yar Pyae, Union Minister for Home Affairs, to China. Lt Gen Yar Pyae met with Minister of Public Security Wang Xiaohong and Xu Datong, Vice Minister of Public Security, China. They signed agreements on assistance worth RMB 5 million to the Myanmar police force. The Chinese side also made it clear that they view the China-Myanmar relationship from a strategic perspective.

Simultaneously, more than 500 Chinese nationals have arrived in Kyaukphyu Township in the troubled Rakhine state. Kyaukphyu, which has Chinese investments in various projects, particularly Myanmar’s long-delayed deep-water port project, supported by the CITIC Group, China’s largest state owned transnational conglomerate. Kyaukphyu also has the China twin oil and gas pipeline that extends to the Yunnan province in China. Importantly, the EAOs, especially AA that is active in Rakhine, have given a guarantee of protection to these projects. The investments that go into billions of dollars will also give the junta a much-needed reinforcement. India too has ambitions in Myanmar as a part of its Act East policy. India, Myanmar, and Thailand are building the Asian Trilateral Highway, which will connect India to ASEAN. The road is expected to boost trade and commerce in the ASEAN-India Free Trade Area, as well as with the rest of Southeast Asia. India is also building the Kaladan Multi-Modal Transit Transport, a road-river-port cargo transport project, to link Kolkata to Sittwe in Myanmar and from Myanmar’s Kaladan river to India’s Northeast, a project of strategic importance giving India an alternative route to the Siliguri;

Why Delhi-Tehran deal on Chabahar Port is good news for India’s Shia Muslims

After extensive negotiations, India and Iran have finally sealed a historic 10-year bilateral agreement for the operation of the strategically located Chabahar Port on the Gulf country’s eastern coast. While India initially engaged in short-term agreements with Iran starting in 2016, the newly inked deal marks a significant milestone. With its presence in Chabahar, India aims to circumvent reliance on Pakistan’s ports in Karachi and Gwadar, facilitating smoother access to landlocked Afghanistan and other Central Asian nations via Iran. This deal has a lot of economic significance for India. Despite the nation’s preoccupation with the ongoing Lok Sabha election, the Narendra Modi government’s decisive action, including the special permission reportedly obtained from the Election Commission of India (ECI) to dispatch a central minister to Iran, underscores the paramount importance of this deal for the nation’s strategic interests and economic future. In geopolitical dynamics, this deal is a major achievement for India and a testament to Modi’s personal diplomacy. It marks our first step into managing overseas ports and serves as a strategic move against the emerging China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC). Its timing, amid the chaos in West Asia disrupting important trade routes, makes it even more significant.

Furthermore, beyond these tangible benefits, India’s diplomatic success shines through the forging of successful ties with conflicted powers. Its diplomatic success is evident in its ability to foster friendly relations with Israel while extending support to Palestine. Simultaneously, New Delhi adeptly navigates deepening ties with the United States and successfully negotiates with Iran, showcasing its diplomatic prowess. Meanwhile, our long-standing partnerships with countries such as Saudi Arabia, Russia, and Japan continue to flourish. India’s leadership roles in the G20 forum and the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) highlight that its diplomacy is actually working.

Why BJP-led NDA Seems to Have
Advantage in Elections

The 2024 Lok Sabha elections have entered midway with the completion of four phases and only three phases remaining. During this election, the centre of discussion has been the low voter turnout — although in the fourth phase, this trend reversed with a marginal increase in turnout percentage compared to 2019. Amid this, the Opposition leaders have started claiming that the BJP’s numbers are falling. Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said the BJP would win 180 seats, but days later he revised the figures to 150. Compared to Rahul, who seems to be very strict regarding the BJP’s figures, TMC supremo and West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee gave more seats to the BJP — 195, at best. However, AAP supremo and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal seems to be more liberal than Gandhi and Banerjee when it comes to assigning numbers to the BJP. He projected that the saffron party may get 220 seats. When the Opposition leaders are trying their best to propagate that the BJP is even struggling to cross the 200 mark, this month, in an election rally in Krishnanagar, West Bengal, Prime Minister Narendra Modi claimed that people have decided that the BJP-led NDA is poised to secure not only 370 seats but is looking forward to crossing the 400 mark. Such claims are routine for politicians during the election season to energise their ground-level workers and attract floating voters. But what caught the attention are the claims made by some journalists and political analysts, who are saying that the BJP is unlikely to get a majority on its own — and even the NDA may struggle to get the majority on its own. Psephologist turned political leader and activist Yogendra Yadav has given a loose figure of around 233 seats based on his “ground assessment” to the BJP and around 268 seats to the NDA. Before analysing the current election, first let’s revisit the 2019 Lok Sabha election, which is being cited nowadays often by many journalists and political commentators.

According to this section, this year’s election has no dominant narrative unlike the 2019 election, which, according to them, was won by the BJP-led NDA with a big mandate because of the nationalist wave generated by the Pulwama terror attack followed by the Balakot airstrike. Interestingly, a section during the election campaign then had claimed 2019 as “a waveless election”. Nevertheless, post the results, they concluded that Modi came to power for the second time only because of the opportunity provided by the Pulwama terror attack. This argument is faulty, that’s why a revisit to the 2019 elections is necessary. According to the Lokniti-CSDS post-poll study, the Pulwama terror attack and Balakot air strike were important issues for only 0.4 per cent of voters while voting. The survey pointed out that development was an important issue for 14.3 per cent of voters. This was followed by unemployment, which was important for 11.3 per cent of voters. Other issues included economic growth, corruption, price rise, water-related problems etc. These figures have been in the public domain for the last five years, still, it is amazing that in this country, we have some eminent journalists and political commentators misinterpreting the 2019 election as mostly decided on the basis of Pulwama and Balakot. Coming to the 2024 elections, Lokniti-CSDS released a pre-poll survey in April where the data pointed out that the satisfaction level towards the Modi government has seen a dip of around 8.1 per cent — a sign of serious concern for the BJP. Increasing unemployment (12.2 per cent), price rise (7.6 per cent) and falling income (4.1 per cent) are some of the crucial issues.

With education, cultured and disciplined students emerge in Sky High English School

Bhadohi

Sky High English School, located at Chauri Road in the city, is a pioneer in creating an educational environment where quality education and strong discipline go together, ensuring all-round development of the students. Arvind Gupta, Director and Founder of the school, believes that education is not limited to bookish knowledge only, but it prepares students for success in every walk of life, and for this, discipline is an essential pillar. The school principal said that our aim is to educate the students as well as make them disciplined and responsible citizens. Instead of 'catch up' strategies, we focus on setting students up for success, so they can make the right decisions for themselves. He stressed that discipline does not mean strictness, but creating a positive and safe environment by following the rules.

The school has clear rules and expectations for all students that everyone must follow, such as raising their hands and paying attention in class. The school said strong relationships are built between teachers and students and good behavior is encouraged, allowing students to express themselves without fear. At the same time, to make discipline effective, parents are also involved, so that coordination is maintained between home and school and there is consistency in the behavior of children. Due to said discipline, students are able to concentrate better on their studies, which helps them get good marks and increases self-confidence, which helps them achieve their goals. Many parents appreciated this approach of Sky High English School. One parent said, "I am happy that my children are not only studying, but they are getting an environment where they remain disciplined and focused. It is preparing them for the future."

Hrithik's fitness food mantra

Bollywood actor Hrithik Roshan gave fans a glimpse into his fitness routine, sharing a post about his new motto: 'Eat lesser, love better. But make the plate look huge'

Hrithik Roshan has once again proved that fitness isn't about extremes but about discipline, intention and a little creativity on the plate. The 51-year-old actor recently offered fans a glimpse of what really powers his sculpted physique, sharing a photo of his meal with his new mantra: "Eat lesser, love better. But make the plate look huge."

one question in mind: is this preparation for Krrish 4? "Krrish 4 physique loading," one user joked. Another confessed the post was the motivation they needed to restart their diet, writing, "This genuinely motivated me to start my diet, especially after all the holiday over-eating."

About Krrish 4
Krrish 4 remains one of the most anticipated films ahead. Not only is Hrithik expected to reprise his superhero avatar, but reports suggest he'll also step behind the camera for the first time as director. The project is expected to move into production in the coming years, with a big theatrical release planned, making the actor's renewed focus on fitness feel even more purposeful.

Here's what Hrithik eats to fit

What featured on his plate was more than just food; it was a masterclass in mindful eating. The star built his meal around lean protein soaked in a vibrant green sauce, then packed the rest of the plate with colour, showcasing charred brussels sprouts, sautéed zucchini, bell peppers, broccoli, carrots and more. In another shot, shredded beetroot made an appearance, along with a banana on the side. This is classic "volume eating", piling up high-fibre, low-calorie foods so portions feel generous while nutrition remains intact. Instead of processed carbs or greasy sides, vegetables become the main hero, meaning more vitamins, more fibre, and fewer unnecessary calories.

Fans react

Predictably, the internet had plenty to say. Some fans were inspired, admitting that his post nudged them back toward healthier habits after the holiday binge. Others had only

Hollywood actor Nicole Kidman has officially finalised her divorce with singer Keith Urban, ending their 19-year marriage. The Perfect Couple actor filed for divorce in September last year, citing "irreconcilable differences", following which the former couple entered into an agreement in court on Tuesday.

Krystle D'Souza slams people for bringing Tamannaah Bhatia down, says she would have 'killed it' in Dhurandhar song Shararat not approached, I'm sure she would have nailed it. Like, there's no way that she wouldn't kill it. And even if Ayesha was alone in the song, she would have killed it. If I was alone in the song, I would have killed it. Everyone would have done what they could do best. So, I'm never going to take away from anyone who's hardworking, who's self-made, who has, you know, who has been consistent and is ready to, you know, put in the effort. So, I feel like she's doing big things. She's going to do bigger things. And this is our time and we are doing things and we are going to do bigger things. So, there's enough sun for everyone, as I've always said. Everyone needs to shine like Ranveer Singh let us shine. To bring somebody up, you don't need to bring others down. I don't know how many times I need to say this. But just to bring another person up, please don't tear another person apart. Because you don't know mentally how it can affect somebody."

Speaking about her 'Shararat' co-star Ayesha, Krystle had nothing but praise for the dancer and performer. "She's a very confident girl. She's so good at what she does, you know. Before I met her, I did stalk her because they told me Ayesha was in it. And I went through her reels and I'm like, oh my god, she's such a beautiful performer. She dances on reels, and she dances so well. So it's just like, you know you're going to perform with somebody good. So your performance is going to look good. Like, when you have a good co-actor for an intense scene, you know that scene is going to turn out well. So you know if you have a good person who's dancing with you, that dance is going to turn out well."

Among those arrested was Mohammad Hannoun, president of the Palestinian Association in Italy, prosecutors said, describing him as the “head of the Italian cell of the Hamas organisation.”

The EU has Hamas listed on its terror list.

Heatwaves, wildfires, droughts, storms cost world over $120b: Report

Heatwaves, wildfires, droughts and storms cost the global economy more than US $120 billion in 2025, underscoring the rising financial and human toll of climate change, a new report by UK-based non-governmental organisation Christian Aid said.

According to the analysis, extreme weather events intensified across continents this year, with the most expensive disasters concentrated in richer countries where insured losses are higher, even as poorer nations suffered widespread devastation with limited financial protection.

“These disasters are not natural. They are the predictable result of continued fossil fuel expansion and political delay,” said Joanna Haigh, Emeritus Professor at Imperial College London.

COSTLIEST CLIMATE EVENTS

The 10 most financially damaging climate events of

People flee floodwaters in Hat Yai, Southern Thailand

2025 each caused losses running into billions of dollars, with combined damages exceeding US $122 billion, the report said.

Most of the figures reflect insured losses alone, suggesting the true economic impact is likely to be significantly higher, while human suffering often remains uncounted.

The US bore the largest financial burden, with wildfires in California topping the list as the single costliest event, causing an estimated $60 billion in damage and over 400 deaths.

Cyclones and floods across Southeast Asia ranked second, inflicting $25 billion in losses and killing over 1,750 people across Thailand, Indonesia, Sri Lanka, Vietnam and Malaysia. Devastating floods in China followed, displacing thousands, killing at least 30 people and causing $11.7 billion in damage.

MOST COSTLY DISASTERS IN 2025
■ Palisades and Eaton fires in the US: $60b	■ Monsoon season floods in India and Pakistan: $5.6b
■ South & Southeast Asia cyclones in Thailand, Indonesia, Sri Lanka, Vietnam and Malaysia: $25b	■ Typhoons in Philippines: $5b
■ Seasonal flooding in China: $11.7b	■ Drought, Brazil: $4.75b
■ Hurricane Melissa in Jamaica, Cuba and Bahamas: $8b	■ Ex-Tropical Cyclone Alfred in Australia: $1.2b
	■ Cyclone Garance in Réunion: $1.05b
	■ Texas floods, US: $1b

“No continent was spared from crippling climate disasters in 2025,” the report said, noting at least one major event struck each of the world’s six populated regions.

ASIA AMONG WORST HIT

Asia accounted for four of the six costliest disasters. Flooding in India and Pakistan killed over 1,860 people, cost up to $6 billion and affected over 7 million people in Pakistan alone.

Typhoons in the Philippines caused over $5 billion in damage and displaced around 1.4 million people.

Other severe events included drought in Brazil, summer wildfires in Spain and Portugal, and cyclones that hit Australia and Reunion Island off Africa’s coast earlier in the year.

While the top 10 disasters were ranked by financial losses, Christian Aid emphasised some most devastating events occurred in poorer countries where insurance coverage is low and data is scarce.

POOR NATIONS BEAR THE HIDDEN COST

Flooding in Nigeria in May and in the Democratic Republic of Congo in April hit thousands, with Nigeria alone reporting up to 700 deaths. Prolonged drought in Iran and across West Asia threatened water supplies for around 10 million people in Tehran, raising the prospect of mass evacuation.

The report also highlighted unusually severe events such as record-breaking heat that sparked wildfires in the Scottish Highlands, burning 47,000 hectares, and Japan’s experience of both extreme snowstorms and record heatwaves in the same year.

Climate-related extremes were also recorded in Antarctica and the world’s oceans, with record sea temperatures and coral bleaching in Western Australia posing major threats to biodiversity.

CALL FOR URGENT ACTION

Christian Aid said the events of 2025 underline the urgent need to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, accelerate the transition away from fossil fuels and increase funding for climate adaptation in vulnerable regions. “This year has again shown the stark reality of climate breakdown,” said Patrick Watt, CEO of Christian Aid. “Violent storms, devastating floods and prolonged droughts are turning lives and livelihoods upside down. The poorest communities are first and worst affected.”

“The climate disasters are a warning of what lies ahead if we do not accelerate the transition away from fossil fuels. They underline the urgent need for adaptation, particularly in the global South, where resources are stretched and people are vulnerable to climate shocks,” he said.

PEACE TALKS | Zelenskyy heads to Florida to meet Trump

Prez: Kyiv strikes show Putin’s true attitude

KYIV Russia attacked Ukraine’s capital with missiles and drones early on Saturday morning, killing one person and wounding 27, a day before talks between Ukraine and the US, authorities said.

Explosions boomed across Kyiv for hours as ballistic missiles and drones hit the city. The attack began in the early morning hours on Saturday and was continuing as the day broke. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy is prepared to meet US President Donald Trump in Florida on Sunday for further talks on ending the nearly 4-year-old war. Zelenskyy told reporters he was on a plane en route to Florida on Saturday afternoon, and would stop in Canada on the way to meet Prime Minister Mark Carney.

Russian Defence Ministry said it carried out a “massive strike” overnight, using “long-range precision-guided weapons from land, air and sea, including Kinzhal hypersonic aeroballistic missiles” and drones. It said it targeted energy infrastructure facilities used by Ukraine’s forces and military-industrial enterprises. The ministry said the strike came in response to Ukraine’s attacks on “civilian objects” in Russia.

Poland scrambled fighter jets and closed airports in Lublin and Rzeszow near the border with Ukraine for several hours during the Russian attacks, the country’s armed forces command said on X. There was no violation of Polish airspace. Civil aviation authority Pansa said the two airports had since resumed operations. It was unclear what caused the alert in Poland.

Zelenskyy said the main target was energy and civilian infrastructure in Kyiv. In some districts, there is no electricity or heating. “Today, Russia demonstrated how it responds to peace talks between Ukraine and the US on ending Russia’s war against Ukraine. They carried out massive attacks on Ukraine precisely as we move toward peace negotiations,” said Zelenskyy, speaking to reporters via audio note while travelling. “That is Russia’s response.”

FULL-SCALE ATTACK Switzerland cannot defend self: Army chief

Zurich: Switzerland cannot defend itself against a full-scale attack and must boost military spending given rising risks from Russia, the head of its armed forces said.

The country is prepared for attacks by “non-state actors” on critical infrastructure and for cyber attacks, but its military still faces major equipment gaps. Thomas Süssli told NZZ newspaper.

“What we cannot do is defend against threats from a distance or even a full-scale attack on our country,” said Süssli, who is stepping down at the end of the year.

US air travel hit, 1600 flights cancelled and 7400 delayed

Thousands of flights across the US have been cancelled or delayed as the north-east braces for a severe winter storm during the peak holiday travel season. As of Friday night, 1,600 flights had been cancelled and 7,400 delayed, as per flight tracking website FlightAware.

The most affected airports are John F Kennedy International, Newark Liberty, and LaGuardia, which all serve the New York area. Boston, Chicago, and Toronto, Canada, are also impacted. ## Rahman registers as B’deshi voter Dhaka: BNP acting chairman Tarique Rahman on Saturday completed the formalities to enlist himself on Bangladesh’s voter list and obtain a national identity (NID) card, two days after his return from over 17 years of self-exile in London.

The 60-year-old leader of the Bangladesh Nationalist Party visited the Election Commission office in Dhaka under tight security, where he provided fingerprints and iris scans for biometric enrolment, news portal tbsnews.net reported.

Meanwhile, Awami League, banned by the interim government from contesting the elections, in an article, claimed Rahman is “receiving one privilege after another,

African regional bodies reject Israel’s recognition of Somaliland

Nairobi: Africa’s regional governance bodies on Saturday rejected the recognition of Somalia’s breakaway region of Somaliland as an independent nation by Israel a day ago, the first by any country in more than 30 years.

Somaliland declared independence from Somalia in 1991 amid a descent into conflict and, despite having its own government and currency, had never been recognised by any nation in the world until Friday.

African Union chairperson Mahmoud Ali Youssouf said any attempt to undermine Somalia’s sovereignty risks peace and stability on the continent. The commission “firmly rejects any initiative or action aimed at recognising Somaliland as an independent entity, recalling Somaliland remains an integral part of the Federal Republic of Somalia.”

Massive crash on Japan’s highway kills 2, as holiday season starts

Tokyo: A massive crash involving 67 vehicles in snowy weather has killed two people and injured 26 on an expressway in Japan as the country kicked off its end-of-year holiday season.

The Gunma prefectural highway police said on Saturday the pileup on the Kan-etsu Expressway late on Friday started with a collision between two trucks in Minakami, about 160 km northwest of Tokyo.

The initial crash blocked parts of the expressway, and cars coming from behind them were unable to brake on the snowy surface.

A fire erupted at the far end of the pileup, spreading to 20 vehicles, some of which were completely burned. The fire was extinguished about seven hours later, police said.

A 77-year-old woman from Tokyo died in a passenger car, and a charred body was later recovered from the driver’s seat of a burned-out truck, police said. Of the 26 injured, five were in serious condition, police said. A warning about heavy snow was in effect late on Friday, when many Japanese started their year-end and New Year holidays.

Parts of the expressway remained closed for police investigation, removal and cleaning of the wreckage.

Kash plan to shut FBI bldg final

FBI Director Kash Patel said FBI’s J Edgar Hoover building in Washington DC will be “shut down permanently” after previously discarding plans to move the bureau’s headquarters to Maryland, The Hills’ reported.

Instead, employees will report to the Ronald Reagan Building to occupy the former location of the US Agency for International Development, which was dismantled by the Trump administration earlier this year.

“After over 20 years of failed attempts, we finalised a plan to permanently close the FBI’s Hoover headquarters and move the workforce into a safe, modern facility. Working directly with President Trump and Congress, we accomplished what no one else could,” Patel said.

“This decision puts resources where they belong: defending the homeland, crushing violent crime, and protecting national security. It delivers better tools for today’s FBI workforce at a fraction of the cost.”

WOMEN'S PREMIER LEAGUE | World Cup-winning captain Harmanpreet will aim to go one-up on Smriti Mandhana

Two-time champions MI face gritty RCB in opener

NAVI MUMBAI

The Women's Premier League's (WPL) 2026 edition will be held with Indian women cricketers participating emboldened by the historic and epic World Cup success that they achieved in November of last year.

Action will begin on Friday at the DY Patil Stadium here when two-time champions Mumbai Indians led by the all-conquering Harmanpreet Kaur lock horns with Smriti Mandhana's Royal Challengers Bengaluru in the opening clash of the tournament.

When Harmanpreet keeps reiterating that the DY Patil Stadium in Navi Mumbai is her favourite venue to play, the statement evokes barely any surprise considering the gargantuan achievement from two months ago.

The Mumbai Indians have possibly the best team on paper with the legendary Harmanpreet at the helm of affairs and the England and West Indies skippers Nat Sciver-Brunt and Hayley Matthews respectively, on board.

What makes MI formidable would be their enviable batting riches with the likes of Amelia Kerr of New Zealand, talented Australian Milly Illingworth and India's dependable Amanjot Kaur.

The presence of G Kamalini up the order could pose some selection headaches for the Mumbai Indians team management.

Bowling will be led by the experienced Shabnim Ismail with Saika Ishaque providing support with the latter likely to encounter some challenges following an impressive debut in 2023.

Meanwhile, Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) now boast one of the most dangerous finishing combinations in the Women's Premier League (WPL), with Richa Ghosh and Nadine de Klerk strengthening the middle order.

The presence of both batters gives RCB the confidence to either chase challenging targets or recover from tricky situations, while consistently putting pressure on opposition bowlers.

Richa has been a consistent performer for RCB over the years and remains one of their most dependable batters. In 26 WPL matches, she has scored 625 runs, including eight half-centuries, at an impressive strike rate of 150.96. Her ability to finish games has often been crucial for the side.

While De Klerk is yet to make a significant impact in the WPL, her international credentials speak volumes. The South African all-rounder has scored 667 runs and taken 52 wickets in Women's T20 Internationals, making her a valuable asset for RCB going forward.

RCB's overseas signing Lauren Bell could play a key role for the team in the upcoming season. The experienced England pacer brings valuable international exposure and proven credentials, having taken 50 wickets in 36 T20I matches, which could significantly strengthen RCB's bowling attack.

Skipper Mandhana will have a huge role to play as far as RCB is concerned in the absence of the iconic Ellyse Perry.

Mandhana's form isn't something RCB would be too worried about given the immense potential that the 2024 edition winners have in their ranks. Australia's Georgia Voll, all-rounder Grace Harris and South Africa's Nadine de Klerk will share the batting responsibilities.

Richa Ghosh will do the job for RCB behind the wickets and also don the crucial role of the finisher.

India's Arundhati Reddy, Pooja Vastrakar, and England's Lauren Bell are among the premier seamers for RCB who also have quality spin bowlers in England's Linsey Smith, India's Radha Yadav and Shreyanka Patil.

According to information, the incident took place in Faridabad, on December 16 after the athlete participated in a national-level shooting competition at the Dr Karni Singh Shooting Range, New Delhi.

In her complaint to police, the 17-year-old national-level shooter alleged that Bhardwaj asked her to meet him at his hotel in Surajkund area of Faridabad, Haryana, saying that her performance required to be evaluated.

The coach called the minor athlete to his room when she reached the hotel, and subsequently sexually harassed her, she alleged adding that he also threatened to ruin her sports career if she disclosed the incident to anyone.

Stating that the hotel management has also been asked to submit the CCTV footage of the said date, police said that a case under Section 6 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act and Section 351(2) of the BNS had been registered against the coach.

BCB sends another letter to ICC asking for venue change

NEW DELHI

The Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) on Thursday formally sent a second communication to the ICC, explaining the specific security concerns about travelling to India for the T20 World Cup while reiterating its demand for a change of venue to Sri Lanka.

The World Cup gets underway on February 7 and Bangladesh are scheduled to play four games (three in Kolkata and one in Mumbai).

They have refused to travel to India after pacer Mustafizur Rahman was released from the IPL on instructions of the BCCI, which cited unspecified "developments all around" to justify the decision.

"Following discussions with sports ministry advisor Asif Nazrul, the BCB has once again sent a communication to the ICC. The ICC wanted to know areas of concern with regards to security and BCB has cited them," a source close to the BCB told PTI on conditions of anonymity.

Australia wins Ashes series 4-1

Home team registers a five-wicket win over England in Sydney

Mitchell Starc took 31 wickets. Travis Head posted three centuries and tallied 629 runs. Alex Carey completed 28 dismissals.

The bowling, batting and fielding performances feature highly on the all-time lists for Aussies in the Ashes, under-scoring Australia's dominance in the 4-1 series win that was completed on Day 5 of the fifth test with a five-wicket in Sydney.

"Yeah, it has been magnificent," Steve Smith, Australia's stand-in captain for four of the five tests in the absence of Pat Cummins, said of the individual contributions.

"I think everyone's stood up at different times. (Starc, Head and Carey) were obviously huge standouts, but other guys stood up at different times throughout the series and, you know, that's what makes a good team."

The Australians bowled England out for 342 on the fifth morning of the series finale and, chasing 160 for victory, finished 161-5 with Carey hitting the winning runs and Cameron Green unbeaten on

Mandhana wants to win T20 World Cup

Harmanpreet feels exposure to foreign players in WPL helping Indian women's cricketers a lot

NAVI MUMBAI

When the two captains of Mumbai Indians and Royal Challengers Bengaluru assembled before the media for the customary pre-match PC, the resonant theme was invariably Indian women's cricket's ascendance on the world stage.

When RCB skipper Smriti Mandhana was asked about what the next step forward would be for Indian women's cricket after the ecstasy of Women's ODI World Cup win last year, Mandhana immediately responded: "Winning the T20 World Cup would be great. But yeah, I mean, we all know that, yeah, we won the World Cup, yes, but there are a lot of things in the world where we need to work on."

"We really want to sit back and say that, yeah, we are the best team in the world and World No 1 team in the world. And I think we still have a lot of things to move on," she added.

Mandhana also stressed the crucial role WPL is playing in the development and growth of Indian women's cricket.

"And I'm sure WPL is going to bridge that gap for us. And in the coming years, we want to do that. Whenever we play for India, we always discuss how we want to be the best team in the world."

Not for one tournament or two tournaments, but the whole year. Any cricket we play and dominate it. And I think every WPL is just getting us closer to that," the India opener added.

Mumbai Indians captain Harmanpreet seconded Mandhana's thoughts.

"Yeah, I think what Smriti said, that one, we are not satis-

Winning the T20 World Cup would be great. But yeah, I mean, we all know that, yeah, we won the World Cup, yes, but there are a lot of things in the team where we need to work on fied with just one World Cup. We have, you know, so much cricket coming up this year and in the next 2-3 years. So every time we go to the field, we want to go with the best mindset."

And that winning mindset, we have been always talking about. And good to see that, you know, not only us, other players are also coming up and thinking and speaking about we want to be champions all the time. So, I think that shows that, you know, WPL has made a lot of impact on us," Harmanpreet stated.

The India Women skipper also said the exposure of playing their trade with foreign players will obviously further sharpen the skills of Indian players as well.

"Players are not, you know, in their comfort zone. They are, you know, working really hard. They are playing against overseas cricketers. So I think they are learning a lot from them. And now that gap has, you know, not there which we used to feel when they are coming for international cricket. So I think, yeah, it has, you know, impacted a lot on our cricket. And I am really happy that, you know, as a team, we are setting bigger goals for us. And hopefully we will keep working for that. And keep improving as a team," she added.

Mandhana also was effusive in her praise for Anya Shrubsole, RCB's assistant coach cum bowling coach and her influence in the team's growth.

"There is a lot of work to do. But again, I know Anya for a very long time. We have played KSL and 100 together. One of the very good captains who have played under as well in the 100. And I always like the way she thought about cricket. And the way she is around her bowling, very clear with her plans."

So I am really happy that a lot of Indian girls are going to get to work with her. And pick her brain around how they can get better. And again, on my bowling, I don't think that is another thing," Mandhana said.

The Australian team celebrates with the Ashes trophy in Sydney on Thursday.

22. "It was nice to finish on a high note," said Smith, who scored a century in the first innings to move up to No. 6 on the all-time list.

"We know the importance of every test match with the World Test Championship, so to get the result here and finish the series on a high was incredibly pleasing."

The Australians retained the Ashes with wins in the first three tests, but England was determined to narrow the margin after its drought-breaking win in Melbourne.

"Tough one to take knowing that we can play a lot better than that, but ... the Australian cricket team, they've just been incredible for five test matches," injured England captain Ben Stokes said. "But also, being pretty truthful to ourselves, we've done a little bit of damage ourselves."

Khawaja's kiss goodbye Usman Khawaja walked to the crease in his last Test after Smith was bowled by Will Jacks and Australia was 92-3 on Thursday. He was given a guard of honor from the England players, shook hands with Stokes and hugged Marnus Labuschagne.

Vijay Hazare

Sarfaraz's fastest fifty in vain as Mumbai lose by 1-run

JAIPUR

Sarfaraz Khan smashed the fastest fifty by an Indian in List A cricket, but four-wicket hauls each from Gurnoor Brar and Mayank Markande helped Punjab script a dramatic one-run win over Mumbai in a last-ball thriller in the Vijay Hazare Trophy, here on Thursday.

Already qualified for the knockout stage from Group

C, Punjab and Mumbai produced one of the matches of the season, with the former showing nerves of steel to pull off an incredible victory.

Chasing a modest 217, Sarfaraz lit up the stadium with a 15-ball half-century as Mumbai appeared firmly in control at 139 for two inside 15 overs.

Sarfaraz's blistering 20-ball 62 was studded with seven fours and five sixes. His pyrotechnics was highlighted by a brutal assault on Punjab skipper Abhishek Sharma, whom he smashed for three sixes and three fours.

After his dismissal, skipper Shreyas Iyer (45) tried to anchor the chase, but wickets fell around him, including those of Suryakumar Yadav (15) and Shivam Dube (12).

With no scoreboard pressure, Mumbai still needed only 16 runs with more than 27 overs remaining and five wickets in hand.

However, the tide turned when Rahul Chahar removed Iyer at 201 for six in the 23rd over, triggering a dramatic collapse.

Mumbai required just five runs to win with four wickets in hand but lost all their remaining wickets for a mere three runs, slumping to a one-run defeat.

Earlier, Punjab were bowled out for 216, with Ramandeep Singh (72) and Anmolpreet Singh (57) scoring fifties. The result ensured Punjab finished on top of Group C, with Mumbai settling for the second place.

Maharashtra and Chhattisgarh finished with 16 points each at the third and fourth position in the table. Brief Scores: Punjab 216 all out in 45.1 overs (Anmolpreet Singh 57, Ramandeep Singh 72; Musheer Khan 3/37) beat Mumbai 215 all out in 26.2 overs (Sarfaraz Khan 62, Shreyas Iyer 45; Gurnoor Brar 4/57, Mayank Markande 4/31) by 1 run.
